

SUMMER: 1-letter poem about Summer
(STUDENTI DELLA EX-10)

School stops, Summer starts
Summer seems a sweet song
Sun starts shining in the sky
Sunny summer, shining sun, salty sea
Surely the sea seems to sparkle
Sparkling sea, smashing seaside
Somebody's swimming and snorkelling
Somebody's surfing, somebody's sailing
Somebody's sunbathing spreading sunscreen
Somebody's searching a shiver
Seeing special sunsets with soulmates
Sharing sweet strawberries
Summer is the special sandy season
Sweet sleep on sand in the shade
Sand on my sandals, salt on my shoulders
She stops sleeping, she suddenly stands
She starts speeding seaward
Stirring at summer seascape
Sense the splashes of the sea!
Simply said, in summertime
Serenity is the sole sweet song
Surely school stress is suspended!
Summer success
Someone sits on the seashore
Someone sets and smashes sand strongholds
Someone savours sandwiches
Someone scans the seabed
Shells' sounds of sea
Seashells secretly show some sea secrets
Somebody shares secrets, somebody sobs silently
Somebody sings summer songs so sweetly
Stunning season!
Smiling sons sinking in sunscreen, splashing in the sea
Sunsets and seafood on sunny Sundays
Sailors smile seeing sunrise
Still singing the same song
Some seagulls soar on the seafront
Searching some shellfish
Some seagulls slide in the shade
Shouting at some sailing ships
Storming out in the shining sea
SnoopDogg savage and shameless
Surely savours seasons are sprinting and
September is showing
Sunset in front of us... School is starting...
Students see summer slowly stopping and school slowly starting...